

This is a detailed historical map of the area around the village of Krasnoyarsk. The map shows the city's layout, including the main street (Krasnaya Street) and the surrounding fields. A red circle highlights a specific location near the river, which is identified as the site of the first settlement. The map also shows the location of the first school, the first church, and the first mill. The map is oriented with North at the top.

This architectural drawing shows a simple building facade. It features a central double door with two panels each. Above the door, there are four small square windows or vents. The building is supported by a dark, thick base, possibly a foundation or a road surface. The drawing is minimalist, using only black lines on a white background.
